Synopsis

Theodosia Throckmorton is in a fix. Allowed to attend a reception given by one of the directors of her parents' museum, she stumbles across Mr. Tetley of the British Museum "in most unusual circumstances! Since Theo has last seen him in a showdown in an ancient Egyptian tomb, his reappearance could mean only one thing: the Serpents of Chaos are back. Once again Theodosia will have to take on secret societies, evil curses, and dark magic too sinister to imagine, especially if it falls into the wrong hands. Blocked at every turn, Theodosia will have to rely on her own skill and cunning "along with a little help from the most unexpected places.

Another excellent book purchased on .com where books of the highest quality can be had at prices to fit any budget. Theodosia, once again, becomes deeply involved in more than one difficult situation. One ordinary morning she and her parents arrive at the Museum of Legends and Antiquities to discover a crowd of people including the police. In the foyer there are dozens and dozens of mummies. The police seem to think that Mr. Throckmorton, the curator and Theodosia's father, is somehow involved in the theft of these mummies and taken them there to his museum. Ridiculous, of course. Theodosia is, of course, drawn into the mystery and becomes bent on proving her father's innocence But to do this she needs free time to explore what has happened. She has to pass many obstacles to pass before she gets to the truth. Her first obstacle is dealing with grandmother Throckmorton who insists on parading a variety of impossibility mean governesses who are determined to reshape our little sleuth-hound into the child who is never seen and never heard. However, they underestimate Theodosia's talent for diversion directing her teachers attention to other things. This gives her the opportunity to attend to more important matter like keeping in close contact with Lord Wigmere head of The Brotherhood of the Chosen Keepers. Keeping, not too close, to the evil members of The Serpents of Chaos whose one objective is to create total disorder and confusion in the world at large enabling them to become the ultimate rulers. As you can see Theodosia is kept very busy and can sometimes be found fashioning amulets to protect herself and those who work in the museum including her parents.
